

Branson Fall Foliage Driving Tour #1

Table Rock Lake / Kimberling City

Note: All driving tours begin at the Branson Chamber/CVB Welcome Center (stop for free maps, brochures, etc.)

- Est. Time: 90 minutes
- Highlights: Stunning foliage, lake and mountain views, cross two historic truss bridges
- Suggested Side-Tours: Indian Point, Dogwood Canyon

Leave the Welcome Center and turn left on Highway 248. At the stoplight at 248 and Gretna Road, follow 248 to the right, and continue straight through the next stoplight.

Stay on 248 as it becomes a winding 2-lane road, climbing the ridge overlooking the city and the Branson Hills area. There are several spots to pull over for scenic mountain views.

When 248 crosses the Ozark Mountain Highroad, turn left onto the Highroad (Highway 465). The four-lane highway is a scenic byway, and affords you spectacular views of the tree-covered mountains.

The Highroad ends, and you loop onto Highway 76 and turn left, going west. Along the highway, you'll notice some beautiful trees lining the road leading up to the Indian Point highway. You can continue on 76, or take a side trip down Highway 265.

Continue on 76 into Branson West, and turn left onto Highway 13. As you leave Branson West, you'll enter the Mark Twain National Forest, and you'll be treated to some of your first views of Table Rock Lake. As you enter Kimberling City, you'll quickly descend from mountaintop to lake level. Cross the Kimberling City bridge and continue on Highway 13 through Lampe.

Highway 86 merges with 13. Stay on Highway 13, unless you are making a side trip to Dogwood Canyon. After a few miles, 86 and 13 split near Blue Eye. Turn left onto Highway 86 and continue along the south side of the lake.

You'll cross the lake again at the Long Creek Arm bridge. Continue on 86 until it intersects U.S. Highway 65. Turn left and follow 65 back into Branson
